the last generation

premiere: September 5th

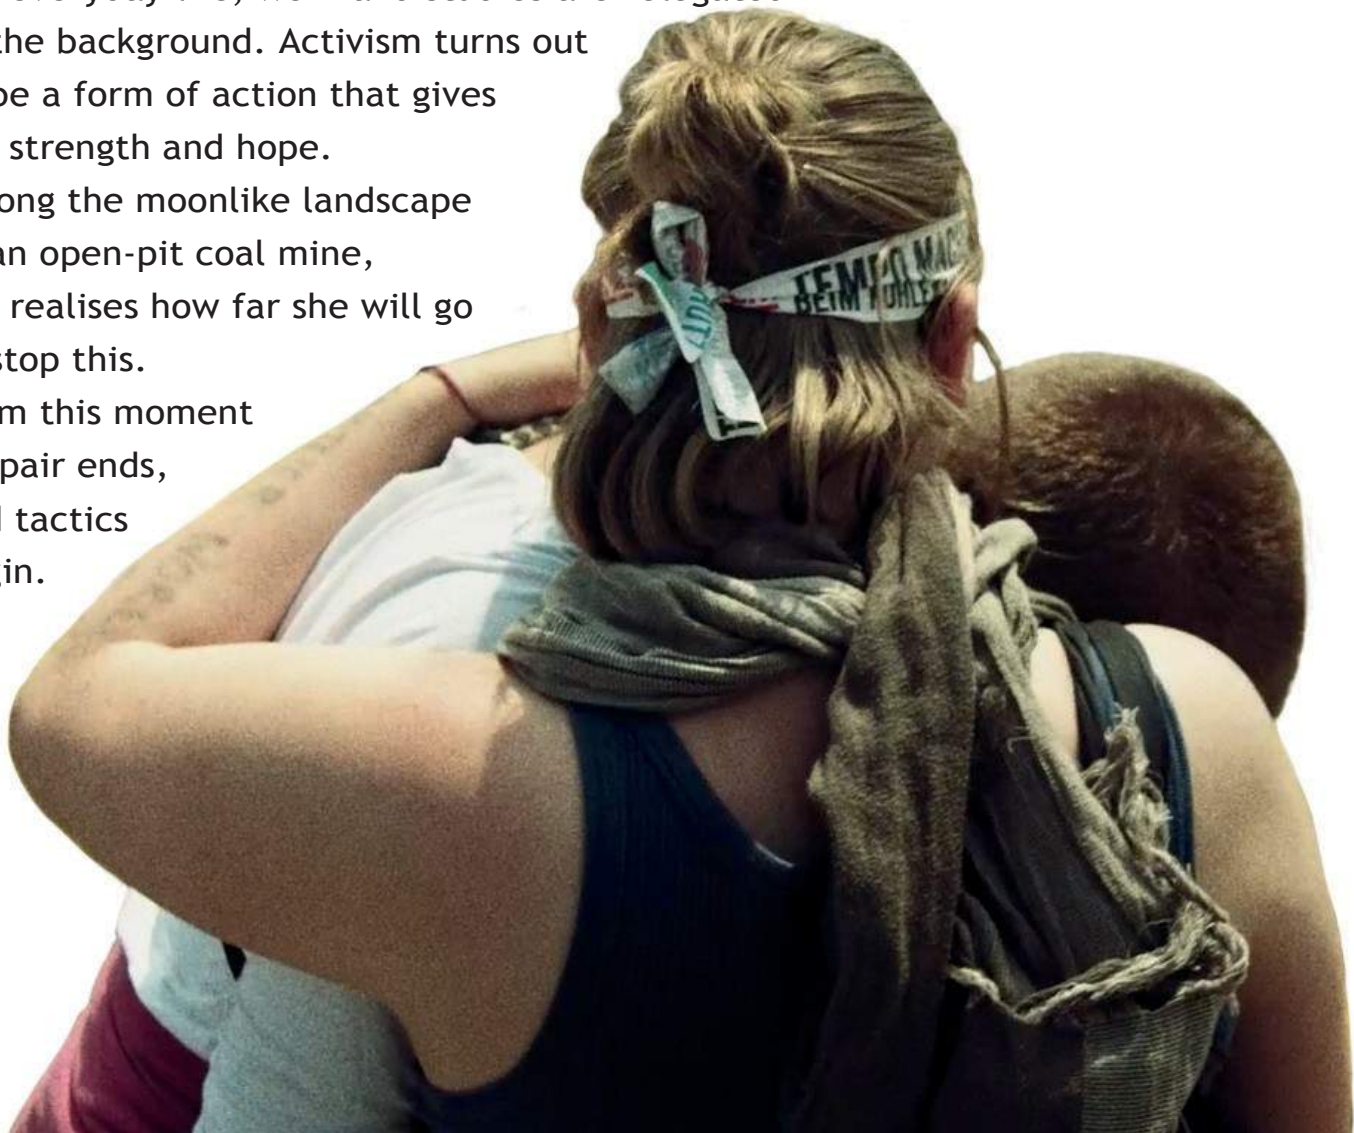

millenium docs against gravity

Janka belongs to the last generation, which can reduce the effects of the climate catastrophe. She is more than ready to break the law to save the future on a living planet.

Janka wakes up every day thinking about the end of the world. According to scientists, 2030 will be the year we trigger chain reaction resulting in the end of our civilization. This burden pushes Janka to take radical action. She begins to understand she will have to make a choice. Involvement in the climate movement dominates her everyday life; work and studies are relegated to the background. Activism turns out to be a form of action that gives her strength and hope.

Among the moonlike landscape of an open-pit coal mine, she realises how far she will go to stop this.

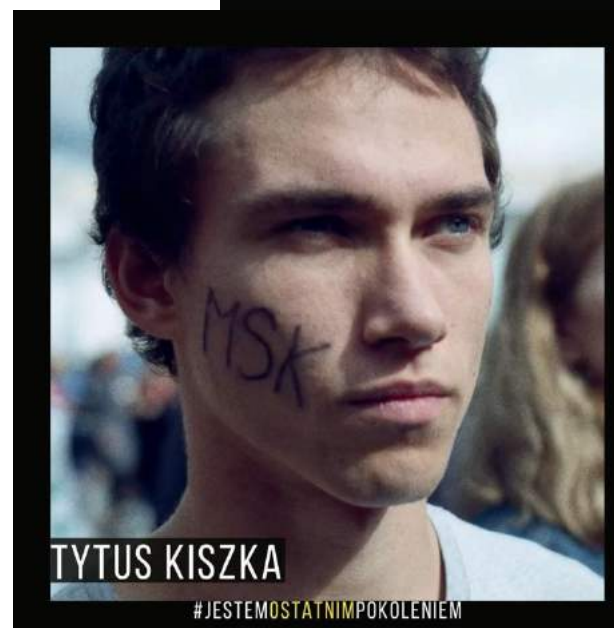

From this moment despair ends, and tactics begin.

Protagonists in the film

Janka Świerżewska is a social and climate activist. She inspires people to act, trying to combine various struggles, knowing as the last generation she wants to live together on a living planet, with elementary security and equality. Works anti-fascist, feminist, in Samba Warszawski Rumor, Food Not Bombs. Conducts debates and meetings. She went to the demonstration in progress COPu24 in Katowice and she knew she had to join some climate movement here in Poland. Joined in March 2019 to Youth Climate Strike. She studies Ethnology and Cultural Anthropology and teaches kids English.
