FREEBORN BROTHERS

(PL)

"We wanna bring you chaos! We wanna give you fun! We wanna take you for a trip to our world where gypsy heart meets American folk, where melodies and energy means more than anything else before! The Freeborn Brothers are here to give you relief in hard times, to put a smile on your face and sweat a lot! Yo!" (Freeborn Brothers)

Freeborn Brothers are Niko Soszynski (banjo, drums, vocals), Matt Plesniak (accordion, guitar, vocals) and Chris Pasieka (double bass, guitar, vocals) and these three musicians play a dangerous mix of musical styles overflowing with energy and humour. Constantly touring Europe, the band played around 200 shows in 2014 in more than 14 countries, including stops at Muddy Roots Europe Festival, Country Charro Festival and Van Thom Weekender. While their first album Two Man Orchestra (2013) featured highly energetic songs and some spooky waltz, the recent second collection, Gypsy Hobo Trash Grass, is a little more melodic, bursting with songs made with heart and soul.

SEAN & ZANDER

(USA)

Sean loves The Clippers, art, and his sons. When he's not touring he calls Palm Springs home. Zander loves cats, coffee, and his girlfriend. When he's not touring he calls Los Angeles home. Sean And Zander came together as a unit in 2007. They began sending songs back and forth to each other, crafting their unique soulful vision of Folk, Americana, Pop, Bluegrass and Gospel.

The legend of vocalist Sean Wheeler (Throw Rag) and multi-instrumentalist Zander Schloss (Circle Jerks, the Weirdos, Joe Strummer) continues as the duo regularly tours throughout the U.S. and internationally. The twosome plays a hybrid of folk, country, pop, ragtime, bluegrass and gospel that includes all the frenzied energy and spirit of the duo's aforementioned bands, but that is executed with a soulful dash of Americana charm not often heard west of the Mississippi.
